Thank you to our sponsors:

Brianna has steadfastly grown into a natural leader, aiming to help people in and around her community. Her involvement with local radio personality Howie Appel began because of her guest appearance on the show to speak about helping victims of the natural disaster in Puerto Rico. She also participated in Sing for Hope NYC, which is a prominent group that uses music to promote tolerance and anti-bullying. Bree regularly records songs and sings covers of songs having to do with mental health, suicide prevention, and anti-bullying. American Legion Post 1282 has nominated her for a Good Deeds/Youth Hero Medal. She was invited by psychologist and international anti-bullying activist Jen Fraser to attend the premiere of The Worthless Movie, an anti-bullying film. Bree was also issued a commendation from Councilwoman Erica King Sweeney for using her music for anti-bullying.

Carle Place High School

Samantha Wagner

Samantha is a kind, dedicated, driven, passionate, and humble young woman. She has held leadership positions within the Key Club since 2017 and has spent time volunteering at the local Boys and Girls Club as well as the INN Soup Kitchen. Samantha has exercised technological creativity through Key Club by making detailed informational videos for various organizations that were used as an educational tool for the entire high school in order to promote fundraising and service learning for organizations such as: Winthrop's Breast Health Center, Smile Train, Hagedorn Cleft Palate Craniofacial Center, and the Amputee Coalition. Samantha was a key student coordinator for Carle Place High School's Battling for a Cause event raising $23,000 for the Long Island Tourette Association.
